Each project is different and exhilarating in it's own right, throughout my career my ability to head a strong make up department has required attention to detail, the ability to hear and understand what is required to capture the look and feel of what is being portrayed through the storytelling, the care of all cast in so many ways from beginning to end, organising large departments efficiently with extensive use of wigs, prosthetics and special effects. My professional strength lies in my people skills and expertise in multiple platforms required to complete an overall polished product and being able to co-ordinate my team to create the optimised look.

I believe each film collectively requires our highest level of creativity, effort, inventiveness professionalism and most importantly collaboration....ALWAYS!
